FRANCE TAKES DRASTIC STEPS TO AID FINANCE

Twenty Per Cent Tax Increase Elimination of Recoverable Budget, Slashes in Expenditures Entailed

COUNTRY FACES CRISIS WITH FALL OF FRANC

Associated Press

PARIS, Jan 15 France today faces a financial crisis in the fall of the franc and took the most momentous measures affecting internal affairs that have been decided upon in the Poincare government since it assumed power. They ordered 20 per cent increase in all French taxes immediately. They virtually eliminated the so-called recoverable budget that is part of the budget borrowed by the funds recoverable from Germany and funded the extra budget into a regular one. They took severe measures of repression against tax evasion and rigidly retrenched expenses of public services. They postponed all bill before parliament necessitating additional expenditures They decided ruthlessly to prosecute speculation on the bourse. Meanwhile something akin to panic seized small investors

NEW SOLDIER BONUS BILL IS PROPOSED

World Return Insurance Payments to Veterans With Other Compensation

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan 15— Another soldiers' bonus bill proposed yesterday in the Senate is sponsored by Senator Bursum, republican, of New Mexico, and calls for a return to the veterans of fraudly and insurance allotments deducted from their pay and a percentage of their subscription to liberty bonds while in service plus additional compensation at the rate of twenty dollars a month for each month of service. Payments would be made in cash over a period of four year. One fourth of the veterans would be paid each year in full or in form of insurance, as they might elect, insurance to be payable at their death on the basis of $100 for each hundred dollars of cash due or policy might be surrendered at end of twenty years at cash value, based upon annual premiums plus four per cent interest The estimated cost will be $400,000,000 each year for the first four years and $60,000,000 annually for the succeeding sixteen years.

"Hearing" by Flame

LONDON — "Hearing" by fire! Quite a new wrinkle, to be sure. But it is possible, says a woman teacher at a school for the deaf. She has invented a special gas burner, in front of which a deaf person may stand while speaking. If he enunciates correctly, the flame hobs up and down. The device teaches deaf children to speak clearly, the instructor declares, for the flame responds only to perfect diction.

EFFICIENCY COMMISSION MAKES REPORT

Recommend Increased Supervision on Part of State Over County Governments Doubled in Cost Since 1917

SUBMIT FINDINGS TO GOVERNOR FIELDS TODAY

Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Jan 15 —Increased supervision on the part of the state over the methods of administering the county governments in Kentucky was advocated today by the Efficiency Commission in a report submitted to Gov. Fields.

The report points out that since 1917 the expenditure for county government have more than doubled and that "there can be little room for doubt as to where an inquiry into the high costs of government should begin."

Among the most important recommendations are.

Abolishment of the fee system with a statutory schedule of maximum and minimum duties for county officers except perhaps such minor offices as Justice of the Peace, Coroner, and the county surveyor; he substituted therein a

Abolishment of the office of commonwealth attorney, except in those circuits which contain only a single county, and that the county attorney be supported by a staff of assistant attorneys general, one for each appellate court district (seven in all).

Abolishment of the office of treasurer of the county board of education, the county treasurer and collector assuming the responsibility with regard to handling school and all other county funds.

Abolishment of the office of jailer with his duties being assumed by the sheriff.

Abolishment of the office of trustee of the jury fund with his duties being assumed by the proposed county collector and treasurer.

Other recommendations touched upon adoption of the commission form of government

Enactment of legislation extending the practice of requiring certain county officers to posses a certificate of fitness as a condition for election to other selective and appointive offices, insofar as the constitution will permit.

Requirement by statute on part of the governor to remove county officers when state officers designated to receive reports from particular county officers and investigation and public hearing establish gross incompetence, neglect of duty or malfeasance.

Requirement on the part of the fiscal court or board of commissioners in each county to appoint a county treasurer and collector for which appointment no elective officer should be eligible;

This officer is to have as his function the collecting, depositing and disbursing on duly authorized orders, all funds of the county and its several officers.

Creation of a bureau of the budget in the office of the governor, to audit the receipt and disbursement of both state and county revenues by county officers prescribe forms of county fiscal documents and the general method of accounting and enforce compliance with regulations.

Sheriff to be relieved of all tax collecting functions, to be transferred to the county treasurer.

In commenting on the proposed abolishment of the fee system, the report declared:

"In the transfer of power to the fiscal court to fix salaries within certain limits the interests of both the state and the counties would be taken care of. Incidentally, the placing of this power in the hands of the counties' governing body would have a tendency to enhance its prestige and to give it real responsibility for county affairs.

Under the recommendation favoring abolishment of the office of commonwealth attorney, the commission declared that on order by the attorney general, one of the assistant attorneys general would go to the support and assistant of any county attorney who found himself unable to cope with a given situation or not in a position properly to represent the state's interest in any given set of circumstances.

ROCK SLIDE CAUSE OF MINES CLOSING

Stone On L. and N. Stoney Fork Railroad 3,000 Cubic Feet—Stops Traffic This Week

Two mines, Crystal and Lower Bigstate, were closed down and more than 100 men were thrown out of work for several days by a big rock slide on the Stoney Fork railroad Friday The railroad has been compelled, of course, to close down for the present but it is hoped that traffic may be resumed by Wednesday.

The rock measured three thousand cubic feet and is conceded to be one of the largest slides on the L. and N. for some time Steam shovels were ordered out and the rock is being drilled and blasted

The place in the mountain where the rock tore loose has been examined and it is reported that the trouble was caused by a mud slide.

COMMISSIONERS INSPECT STREETS

Plan to Maintain in Passable Condition Throughout Cold Weather

Inspection of city streets and bridges was made by Commissioners J. F Evans and Charles E. Cooke yesterday. These will be maintained in passable condition during the cold weather, they say, no great improvement being possible during the winter months

The Dorchester avenue, Sixteenth street Chester and Cumberland avenue bridges were inspected and reported in fair condition. Some repairs may have to be made on the wooden bridge over Cumberland avenue near Twenty third street, it was stated, to keep it in safe condition for a year or two until the city can afford to build a better one.

Work of scarifying Exeter avenue from Twenty-second street westward was begun yesterday afternoon After this is done, it will be rolled and thus rendered passable until more permanent improvements can be made. The work is being done by the Humbard Construction company's machinery and one operator.

'CAKE' BECOMING PUBLIC MENACE

The time has come when some action should be taken by the city to suppress the sales of ginger and other extracts which are working greater havoc here now than moonshine liquor

Since small quantities of the intoxicating liquid may be sold legally, according to a recent surprising decision in police court, the nefarious traffic is more difficult to regulate than that of outlawed whiskey. The matter could be handled as it has been done in Pineville by levying a municipal tax upon the privilege so high that it would be prohibitive

This it seems, should mount to complete legal restraint upon such sales, as obviously not enough profit could be made to pay for the license

Conscientious druggists, of course, do not sell such stuff. From official sources it has been learned that there are two druggstores in Middlesboro which do not sell extracts or other concoctions manufactured for the purpose of producing intoxication of the vilest and most dangerous kind

Efficient enforcement of liquor laws making it almost impossible to procure whiskey has driven the booze crazed victims to this extremity. Dollar crazed dealers, we chiefly to blame for the prevalence of the pernicious practice and it is these that the law should reach if possible

Multitudinous cases are in the police annals of the abject misery caused by fake Monticello and similar poisons. In connection with the case recently in police court the mother stated that her boy not only took her hard earned money for such drinks, but that he is a physical wreck and unable to work because he indulges in them

To say that dealers do not know, in nearly every case, that such extracts are used for beverage purposes would be an insult to the intelligence of the reader. They are committing a moral crime of no small degree by such practices and it is the duty of city officials to work out some way to combate the evil

WHERE TWO GOVERNORS DIFFER

Both of them are governors of southern states. They are closely contiguous. The boundary line between the two extends hundreds of miles. In the matter of interests they are closely related, in respects they are identical. The governors of the two are aligned with the same party, both democrats. The two states are Kentucky and Tennessee

The governor of Kentucky came into the office last week. In his inaugural address, he exhibited a gratifying degree of progressiveness. He recommended the issuance of the bonds of the state to the extent of $75,000,000, of which $50,000,000 should be devoted to the improvement of the states highways. It may be remarked that in the matter of roads Kentucky is as well if not much better off than is her sister Tennessee.

In his inaugural address, Governor Fields, of Kentucky, declared the state 'can never be what it is and what it has a right to be, without a complete system of public highways.' Such a declaration if made and applied to Tennessee, would apply with equal force as in the case of Kentucky.

Our own governor of Tennessee Governor Peay, is a democrat, but between him and the governor of Kentucky there's a difference. He is not in favor of the state borrowing money and using it for highway development. The mud roads existed in the days of our fathers and Governor Peay seems to feel that our fathers managed to live, with such roads we have and that we are no better than the fathers were.

There are Tennessee democrats as well as Tennessee republicans, who are progressives. They see and say that nature has dealt with wonderful liberality in the distribution of her choice gifts to the Volunteer state and that it behooves the people of the state to show their appreciation of generous nature by taking hold and doing something for themselves.

It is regretful that we have such a man at the helm of the state at such a time, one who seems to look upon the words stinginess and economy as synonyms. If Governor Peay maintains that in opposing the use of state funds for the improvement of the states public highways, he is making a mistake. If he is doing it for the sake of his party, he has a very different conception of party service in comparison with the thought of Governor Fields, of Kentucky.

Tennessee will elect a governor next November and Governor Peay will stand for re-election. We shall see then what his party will do and then what a majority of the voters of the state will do—The Journal and Tribune

Berton Braley's Poem

AN EPITAPH

While driving to a dance,
He took a chance,
In passing on a curve
At sixty miles an hour,
He had the nerve,
His motor had the power—
He just scraped through.

He took another chance
As people often do,
And cut across the road
A time or two,
And just scraped through

Again he took a chance,
He figured in his brain
That he could beat a train
Across the crossing—
But—a—a—wrong,
Bits of his car
Went to sing
For half a mile along
The railroad track,
His speedy hack
was ruined,
You could see that at a glance,
He took a chance—
And never reached the dance

'THE CHEAT' HERE THURSDAY, HAS MANY THRILLING SCENES

One of the most strenuous scenes of her career

This was the opinion of all who witnessed the filming of the branding episode in The Cheat, starring Pola Negri, produced by George Fitzmaurice and which will be shown at the Manring theatre next Thursday. Jack Holt has a featured role and Charles de Roche lends the supporting cast

It was the latter, who played the scene with Miss Negri, and after it was over both were exhausted by the strain and several bruises testified to the realism injected into the dramatic action

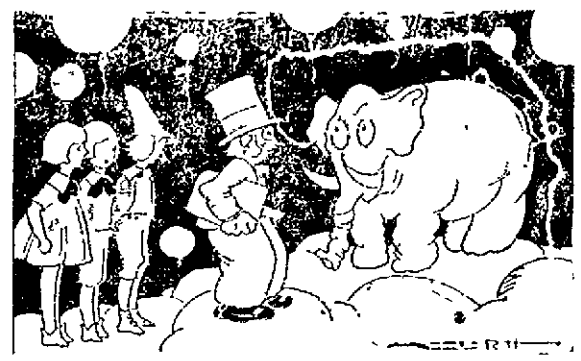
The episode shows de Roche in the role of a crook parading as a Hindu prince, branding the beautiful star on the shoulder with a tiger's head—denoting that she is his property. This is after she has become financially indebted to him and then tries to pay with money. He calls her a 'cheat' and brands her. Later this brand saves her husband and her own peace of mind, after she has shot the Hindu, and the burden of guilt is assumed by the husband, played by Mr. Holt

The scene had to be made with every realistic touch to be effective, worked up to a high nervous tension. The two players went through several rehearsals, and finally 'camera' was called. Then with redoubled intensity they proceeded to enact the situation which, on the screen is said to be one of the most tremendous ever filmed

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

THE TWEEDLES GET HOME



"How do you do?" said a voice

When the tweedles landed in Pollyhoop Land and the man in the moon dumped them off beside the forest where the baby balloons were growing.

"How do you do," said a voice and there stood a huge paper elephant balloon that had floated up to Balloon Land on the Fourth of July.

"How do you do," answered Daddy Gander. "Did you see two little fellows come this way, Mister Elephant?" Each of them was holding onto a big bunch of circus balloons and they flew away with them. I mean the balloons blew away with the little boys. The boys didn't blow away with the balloons.

The balloon elephant was just about to answer, when they heard Mother Goose's voice say, "Here, Mister Moon, I'll take that veil with all the silver on it that I gave the two tweedles on and that pretty blue one with the two white ties. My, I'd like to crop a time like that ever. I never will get them now, so I'll take—" Out the moon fell off the tree frame at once. I'm in a hurry. I must go back to Mother Goose land because it's chicken day. I want these extra fine dolls for one of my little friends."

"Dear me! Oh, dear me!" gasped poor Daddy Gander. "Is Mother Goose herself? She mustn't see us for she'd never understand anything."

But no longer had he spoken than Tweedle Dum and Tweedle Dee appeared still holding onto their balloons. Or rather the balloons still held onto them for by this time the strings were so tangled they couldn't have let go if they'd wanted to.

"How on earth did you two ever get up here?" cried Mother Goose breathlessly.

Then the tweedles told her the whole story. How they had been down watching the circus elephant and how the balloon man had asked them to hold his balloons for a minute. And how a wind had come along and carried them up to the sky before they could let go.

"Well, I'll take you both home on my broom," said Mother Goose, but suddenly she thought of something. "My goodness! I forgot. I'll have to jump on my broom at once and jump to Turtle Coast Land and tell Mister Sparkling Blow to send more weather for the circus. I don't know how to get on home."

At that Daddy Gander stepped out, and Tweedle Dum and Tweedle Dee, the circus man, who had come along. "But no mother," said Daddy Gander heartily. "I will take them home. I brought my magic dustpan along, and it's big enough to hold everybody."

Mother Goose wasn't a bit cross. "All right, Daddy," she said. "And be careful that nobody falls off."

So everybody was happy and Mister Tweedle got her home safely.

PLAN DUPLICATE ELECTRIC PUMP

B. U. Manager Explains New Apparatus for Improvement of Service

Installation of duplicate electric pump at the plant of the Kentucky Utilities Company was announced by W. C. Stuart, manager, today. The pump will have a capacity of 1500 gallons per minute and will take the place of the present steam driven pumps.

It has already been ordered and installation should be completed by March. The present pump will be returned for supplementary use in case the other breaks down thus insuring a good water supply at all times.

Records for 1923 show that the hours pations were entirely without service was less than half than was experienced in 1922. Records at the local office show that the time during which such service was impaired by breakdowns was eighteen hours and eight minutes.

Electric service was extended to 187 houses during the year, this figure indicating a net gain of that amount. Water service was extended to 101 new patrons and twelve installed electric ranges. Twelve street lamps and two fire plugs were provided during the year.

The company, which kept an accurate record of the building activities during the year, reported that 212 residence and business houses were erected inside the corporate limits and thirty-eight just outside the city.

The new ice plant was among the buildings completed during the year and the increase in the transformer capacity of from 60 to 1000 kilowatts is one of their notable improvement in the service.

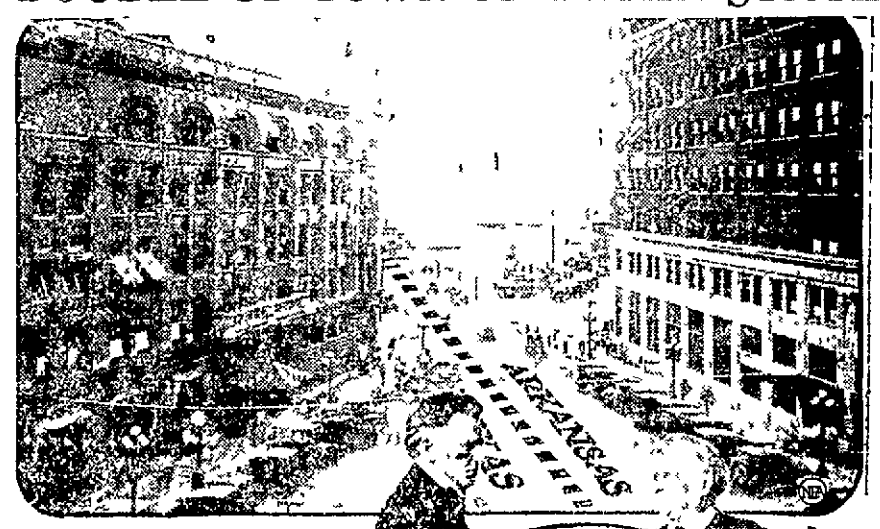
THERE'S TWO OF MOST EVERYTHING IN DOUBLE-UP TOWN OF TWAIN STATES



TEXARKANA, Ark.-Tex., Jan. 15.—In this city a man can slip on a banana peel in Texas and pick himself up in Arkansas.

Snowballs hurled through the air from Arkansas and find their marks in breezy Lone Star Staters, living in their own Texas.

For half of Texarkana is in the one state and half in the other.

Right through the center of the town runs State Line avenue. On one side the city is governed by the laws of Arkansas, on the other by the laws of Texas.

Two of Everything

Besides the two state governments there are two full sets of county officers, two public school systems, two complete municipalities with two mayors, two city councils, two police departments, two U. S. courts—two of nearly everything. At one time U. S. senators had their residence in Texarkana—Sheppard of Texas and Kahn of Arkansas.

The federal building and the union station are the only buildings that stand in both states. Besides the post office and station the only other things of a public nature that serve both cities are the fire departments, individually owned by each city but operated as one, and a joint sewage disposal plant.

Recently a postal clerk pilfered a letter and the case was taken into the U. S. court for the western district of Arkansas. During the trial the question of jurisdiction was raised and it was necessary to determine whether the offending clerk's work table was located in Arkansas or Texas.

Tough Time

Newspaper reporters have a tough life, for when their work of newsgathering is complete in one state, they hustle over the line and do it all over in the other.

The close individual and official friendship of the twin cities was demonstrated in the recent golden jubilee celebration here, when the governors of Arkansas and Texas and the mayors of Texarkana, Tex.-Ark., marched up State Line avenue and clasped hands across the line.

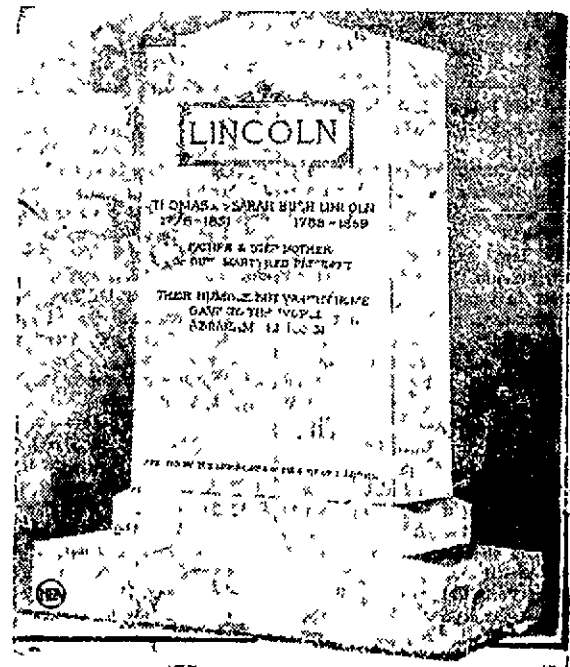
Delmonico's, New York, is no longer a restaurant but an antique shop. The former atmosphere of gayety has departed, leaving the cobwebs and somberness of antiquity.

No Longer Forgotten



Illinois' shame for years has been the neglected condition of the graves at Timesville of the father and stepmother of Abraham Lincoln. So the Lions clubs of Illinois have erected this monument over the graves and will see to it henceforth that the spot is not neglected. The monument will be dedicated on Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12.

Today

I've shut the door on yesterday—
 Its sorrows and mistakes.
I've looked within its glooms with
 Past failures and heartaches
And now I throw the key away
 To seek another room,
And furnish it with hope and smiles
 And every Springtime bloom

No thought shall enter this abode
 That has a hint of pain
And envy, malice and distrust
 Shall never entrance gain
I've shut the door on yesterday
 And thrown the key away
Tomorrow holds no fears for me,
 Since I have found today

PROMINENT HARLAN MAN DISAPPEARS

World War Hero Left About January 1—No Word of Him Received Since

HARLAN, Ky., Jan. 15.—Capt. Walter F. Wright, prominent insurance man of this city, has suddenly and mysteriously disappeared, and all attempts to locate him have failed. He left Harlan about January 1 to go to the home of his father, Judge J. W. Wright. Hearing nothing from him for several days his wife wired Judge Wright, who came to Harlan at once. Several broadcasting stations throughout the country have been requested to join in the search.

Capt. Walter F. Wright, came to Harlan about two years ago, and soon became very popular in local society. He is an overseas veteran, and was decorated with the Croix de Guere for bravery. He served several years in the regular army, rising in the ranks from private to Captain in the Artillery Corps.

NEGRO MAN KILLS ANOTHER IN TWAYS CAMP

HARLAN, Ky., Jan. 15.—Willie Clark, colored, about 23 years old, was shot and killed by "Shakey Sam" Lyons in the latter's home at Tways camp last Sunday night when he pulled his knife and made a rush at Lyons.

Clark, according to the information taken, was drunk. He stopped at Lyon's house, knocked on the door and demanded that it be opened. "If you don't open this door I'll shoot it down," he said. Lyons opened the door. There were three other men and a woman inside, besides Lyons, who when Clark began getting rough, asked him to "not start anything at this late time of night." Clark then placed his hand on his pocket and demanded: "Now, all you niggers line up here." Clarence Keyes, one of the three other men, managed to get Clark out, and take him out to his house.

Clark had been gone only about fifteen minutes until he returned, cursing and quarrelling. He got his knife from his pocket and made for Lyons. Lyons grabbed his pistol and dropped the man with one shot.

Harlan Citizens Boost Roads

HARLAN, Ky., Jan. 15.—Delegation of Harlan citizens, headed by John H. Carter, County Attorney, are leaving tonight for Frankfort to take part in the good roads bond demonstration to be held before the legislature on Monday.

City Offices Moved

The city officials have moved their offices, formerly above the Harlan National Bank, to the new Howard Building on Main St. All improvements and conveniences have been instituted, so that now each officer has his own private office. The court room is much larger than the old one, and has every accommodation.

Harlan News

Dr. E. M. Howard has returned from Louisville.

Mrs. C. T. Mikell and daughter, Betty Catherine, have returned from a visit to Mrs. Mikell's parents, Rev. Dr. Dawson and Mrs. Dawson of Knoxville.

Judge M. W. Howard of the county court has been confined to his home on account of illness, and his son W. R. Howard is acting as pro-tem judge.

Marriage license was issued to Frank Reeves of Wilton, Ky. and Minna Elliot of Buckholt, Ky.

Several attachment suits, aggregating several thousand dollars have been instituted against the Harlan Co-Operative Coal Co. located at Evarts, Ky.

News From Pineville

FIRE DESTROYS GARAGE AND CAR EARLY SUNDAY

PINEVILLE, Jan. 15.—Fire destroyed the garage in the rear of Mrs. I. L. Hopkins' home Saturday night about 1 p. m. A car housed in the garage was ruined beyond repair. Mrs. Hopkins had just recently moved to her new home which formerly belonged to Fuse Holbs. Jim Carnes in attempting to check the fire, stepped on a nail injuring his foot severely. Mr. Carnes is able to be out.

TEMPLE SINGERS GIVE PLEASING ENTERTAINMENT AT L. M. U.

HARROGATE, Tenn., Jan. 15.—The entertainment given in the auditorium of L. M. U. last night by the Temple Singers was one of the most enjoyable and most novel programs of the season. Each member of the company was an artist in his or her line. The personnel follows: soprano, Helen Girard; contralto, Hazel Huntley; tenor, James Evans; bass, David Davies; pianist, Marie Carlton.

The program began with an enactment of an old English custom celebrating the old Sabbath and the holiday the day after. The Singers, dressed as choristers, sang several sacred numbers celebrating the Old Sabbath which was from sunset Saturday evening to sunset Sunday evening. The next day, a holiday, was enacted with old folk songs in true English style.

The second part of the program was made up of popular and operatic numbers.

POWELL VALLEY WOMAN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

MRS. MARTHA HAMILTON DIES AT SON'S HOME IN SHAWANEE

Mrs. Martha A. Hamilton, 80 years old, died at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning at the home of her son, Dr. J. M. Hamilton, at Shawanee. She is survived by four sons, Dr. J. M., J. B., P. H., all of Shawanee, and W. S. of Ewing, Va. A sister also survives, Mrs. McWilliams of Shawanee. The funeral was held at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning at the Methodist Church in Shawanee, with the Rev. W. D. Farmer officiating. Pallbearers were: J. M. Carr, George Faulkner, Edwin White, C. K. Guy, Homer Yeary and W. M. Meadows. Interment was in Scott cemetery.

AGED CUMBERLAND GAP WOMAN DIES YESTERDAY

Miss Minnie Burkan, age about 90, died at her home at Cumberland Gap at 11:30 a. m., yesterday, after a third stroke of apoplexy.

The deceased is well and favorably known in Claiborne county, having lived at Cumberland Gap for 19 years. She was born in Cambridge, Ind., and later moved to Kansas from which state she moved to Tennessee. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Louisa Stokes, of San Diego, Calif.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. Bert Anderson, Presbyterian, of Rose Hill, Va. Interment was in the Harrogate cemetery.

Preparing to Unveil Head

Young Men in Politics

LONDON—Young men are becoming more active in English politics. In the recent elections, many of the candidates ranged from 21 to 30. And quite a few of them were victorious.

Attention, Pastors!

BURN, Yorkshire, Eng.—Speaking of "pillars of the church"—Well, consider Benjamin Gregory, 81-year-old warden and chorister in the parish here. He has attended services at least 6650 times in 61 years. And that means he has walked approximately 25,000 miles to and from his devotional exercises. At least that's the way the village statistician's figure it. Every Sunday he's at his regular place in the choir loft. And year in and year out, he's the rector's mainstay.

Prince Her "Sweetheart"

LONDON—There's one little maiden who admits she's in love with the Price of Wales. And she doesn't hesitate to tell you she's going to "marry" him some day. The prince, it seems, won her affections during a visit to the children's fair at the Royal Northern Hospital. And his highness thinks a lot of her, too. He called her the "smartest girl in the room." But there's not much danger of an early wedding. For the fair one is just 4.

Not So Dumb!

Mothers! Rub Away Children's Colds

Let them breathe in healing vapors all night

THE MOTHER'S PROBLEM—Wise mothers know that daily outdoor exercise in childhood lays the foundation for strong bodies in later life.

Daily means Winter as well as Summer.

But with outdoor exposure some colds are bound to come.

And we know now that colds are not just "simple" colds.

They must not be neglected. Much of the catarrh, deafness and ill health of adults is now laid by physicians to the neglected colds of childhood.

On the other hand, constant internal dosing must not be thought of. This is the mother's problem these cold Winter days.

Little Stomachs Rebel Against Dosing

Anxious mothers are too apt to dose their children continually.

Often this upsets the delicate little stomach. An upset stomach means a poor appetite. So the child doesn't eat enough to keep up its strength.

This in turn lowers the bodily resistance, thus inviting fresh colds and other diseases.

THE PROBLEM SOLVED—Vicks VapoRub—the external, vaporizing treatment—has solved this problem for literally millions of mothers.

They let the kiddies romp outdoors but at the first sign of "sniffles" they apply Vicks over the throat and chest at night.

It is externally applied and so can be used frequently without upsetting the digestion.

The ingredients, released by the body heat, are inhaled with each breath, stimulating the air passages to throw off the cold germs. At the same time, Vicks increases the circulation of the blood throughout the chest region, thus helping to prevent any congestion developing.

This use of Vicks will prevent many colds and save much precious strength and vitality.

EXTERNALLY applied, Vicks can be used as freely and as often as desired, even on the youngest child.

OVER 92 million jars of Vicks have been used in the past five years.

HOW VICKS SHOULD BE USED

For Head Colds, Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever—Vicks should be melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled, or a little can be applied up the nostrils and snuffed up the head.

For Spasmodic Croup, Children's Colds—Rub Vicks over the throat and chest until the difficult breathing is relieved, then spread on thickly and cover with a hot flannel cloth. One application at bedtime usually prevents a night attack of croup.

For Deep Chest Colds, Sore Throat, Tonsilitis, Bronchitis, Coughs—Rub Vicks briskly over the throat and chest. In severe cases first reddens the skin to open the pores (see directions). Then spread on thickly and cover with one or two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. If the cough is annoying, a small piece the size of a pea can be swallowed every few hours.

Will She Marry Prince?

This a recent photo of Lady Mary Thynne, whose visit to South Africa has renewed the gossip that the Prince of Wales may make her his bride. Lady Mary was one of the bridemaids at the wedding of Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon and the Duke of York.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

Plum Pudding

Plum pudding seems almost as much a part of Christmas as candy. And while we are usually so surfeited with good things before we get to the plum pudding stage a bit of rich "mummy" pudding is needed to make the dinner perfect.

Formerly a most intriguing deliciousness was given to the pudding by pouring brandy over the mold and sending it to the table in fascinating blue flames. Now we must fill the pudding so "chuck full" of richness that this flavor is not missed.

All fruit should be cleaned, seeded or shredded before beginning to mix the pudding.

The true English plum pudding is boiled in a floured pudding bag. However, we prefer to steam our puddings in attractive molds suitable to send to the table garnished with holly or in the tiny individual molds.

The pudding may be as rich as desired. The first rule is for a very rich delicious pudding that can be kept indefinitely.

Plum Pudding

Two cups cleaned currants, 2 cups seeded raisins, 1 cup candied orange peel (shredded), 1 cup shredded citron, 1 cup suet (½ pound), 3 cups stale bread crumbs, 4 eggs, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-8 teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon salt, 3-4 cup brown sugar, 4 tablespoons molasses, ½ cup flour, 2 tablespoons currant jelly, 1 tablespoon strong cold coffee.

Chop fruit and suet with flour. Add bread crumbs and mix well. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon-colored and add to first mixture. Add spices, salt, sugar, molasses, jelly and coffee and mix well. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry and fold into mixture. Turn into a large buttered melon mold or buttered bowls, cover with a floured cloth fastened securely and steam two and one-half hours. Steam again when wanted to use the same length of time. Serve 12 persons.

Pudding Sauce

Two eggs (yolks), 1 cup powdered sugar, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat yolks of eggs with sugar until very light. Whip cream and add to egg mixture. Beat well and add vanilla.

Plain Plum Pudding

(Without Eggs)

One cup suet, 1 cup chopped and seeded raisins, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 cup molasses, 3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoons cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon grated nutmeg, ½ teaspoon cloves.

More fruit can be added if desired and one cup of chopped and blanched almonds.

Mix fruit and suet chopped fine with molasses. Add soda and stir until foamy. Add milk and flour mixed and sifted with salt, spices and cream of tartar. Mix thoroughly and turn into a well-buttered mold. Steam four hours.

This recipe is calculated to serve eight persons.

TALKS TO WOMEN ON GOOD ROADS

T. R. Hill is Speaker at Club Yesterday —Splendid Music Program, Reception

T. R. Hill gave a very interesting talk on good roads to the members of the Woman's Club at their regular meeting yesterday afternoon. He began by urging the women to take more interest in politics, particularly in regard to local and state matters, then gave a brief discussion of the road problem.

Mr. Hill pointed out that the most important thing for Kentucky as well as for any other state, is to get a main artery through the state, then turn its attention to shorter roads leading to the main artery. He said that only 21 miles remained of the road through the state by here, through Corbin, and urged that all attention be turned to seeing that the contracts for these stretches, already let, by validated and told the women they could have a great influence in the matter.

Turning to the proposed $75,000,000 bond issue he showed that there would be some opposition to it because of its great size although he said it was greatly needed. He closed by throwing a challenge to his audience to the effect that they could by their influence do what they pleased about the matter.

In the beginning of the meeting a number of business matters were discussed. The club voted to increase its membership in the near future. Letters were read asking the support of the local club for the road bond issue and the bill on prison reforms now before the legislature. Mrs. M. G. Hubbard announced Dr. Anna Veech as speaker at the next club meeting. Mrs. R. L. Maddox announced the arrival of the good roads poster calendars and discussion of the sale of them was taken up.

The musical program in charge of Mrs. D. W. Senters, music chairman, was excellent and consisted of the following numbers: Piano duet, Mrs. John Slemp and Miss Bertha Hoe; vocal solos, Miss Ruth Moore; mandolin solo, Mrs. R. L. Maddox; vocal solos, Mrs. Edward Yenger; vocal solos, Mrs. J. W. Penny; violin duet, Louise McCamy and Josie Krimminger; vocal solos, Miss Lillian Seay.

At the close of the meeting, tea and sandwiches were served by the hospitality committee and an informal reception for the public school teachers and the Cumberland Gap club members visitors there was held.

H. Steel, who left here a few days ago after a visit with his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Gagle, is in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Foley, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Burke and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hoe motored to Pineville Sunday.

Mrs. F. M. Gordon and Miss Henrietta Gordon and their guest, Mrs. Charles Purnell of Lynch, spent Saturday night at the Joe Gordon home near Arthur, Tenn.
